NEW HAVEN, June 14.- The Yale commencement of 1913, which opened to-night with the Yale play on the campus, is to be one of novelties. Not even the oldest alumnus who has come back to show the youngsters what a real Yale celebra tion is like can remember a commencement that ever began as early as June 14.

It's only a year or two ago that scores of alumni, confplaining of the heat, grumbled because some of the exercises of the week lasted over into the first of July But this year the Yale officials will have all the attractions of commencement here in town all out of the way by next Wednesday night.

The largest crowd of alumni and guests that ever came back here to frolic or to suit to dissolve the United States Steel help their friends frolic will be here within Corporation said that love of his fellow the next twenty-four hours. Not only men was the basic motive that led the are the graduating classes larger than late J. Pierpont Morgan to undertake ever but several hundred more alumni to form the steel trust. He was sure,

None of the distinguished guests that come here to receive honors at the hands of the corporation on next Wednesday can hope to outshine in importance Bill Taft, as he will be called by his classmates. Who are coming back in numbers to help him be the king bee of the bunch For 200 years and more Yale has been holding commencements, but never in all that time has she ever had an ex-President of the United States attending as an alumnus. The members of '78, his class, are coming back in numbers to celebrate the thirty-fifth anniversary of their graduation.

After the sermon by President Hadley will come the dedication of the new Porter gateway leading to the new campus by Prof. Franklin B. Dexter, former secretary of the Yale Corporation, which is named for Yale's former president. Noah Porter. An organ recital by Prof. Harry Jepson at Woolsey Hall, the dedication of the Daniels gateway and the annual meeting of the Yale Foreign Missionary Society are included in the programme for Sunday. In addition the undergraduates will do a whole lot of entertaining and there will be supported for the steel industry coincided with the views of Abram S. Hewitt, said the with ex-Mayor of New York.

Mr. Hewitt, said the Would ex-Consumption of iron and steel would exceed all belief and gave figures in his prophecy. These figures turned out "accounted and exact." Mr. Morgan relied much on the advice of Mr. Hewitt, said the ex-Ambassador. He listened to Schwab and went ahead.

> Macon, Ga., June 14 .- Judge Emory trict is facing the hardest fight of his stormy career on the bench in the inquiry which is being made into his record by an agent of the Department of Justice. He is facing what may be called the climax of charges and insin uations which have been made against him ever since he became a Federal Judge years ago. In fact, his old opponents are hopeful that impeachment proceedings may result.

Hardly a year has passed since Speer went on the beach in which he has not charged that Judge Speer delayed its settlement so that referees and certain lawyers might profit. Huff said his owr CLIMAX OF CHARGES case was but one of many in the southern district of Georgia. He alleged that Speer was a judicial tyrant and generally hated throughout the district.

Col. Huff was recently declared in contempt for sending this pamphlet to Judge Speer. He has taken an appeal to the United States Supreme Court. Years ago Judge Speer found the people of Savannah so cold to him in a social way that he removed his residence to Macon. In Macon he found bench.
